

1 Remember the story

Answer in your own words. Look back at the story if you want.

1 Which workshop did Henny choose?

2 What new information triggered her regret?

3 What did the coordinator say about exchanging sessions?

2 Fact or guess

Read each sentence. Circle Fact if the story shows it for sure.
Circle Guess if it is only an idea someone has.

- | | | | |
|---|--|------|-------|
| 1 | Both activities had been offered at the same time. | Fact | Guess |
| 2 | Henny knew the full wire workshop would have been perfect for her. | Fact | Guess |
| 3 | Henny enjoyed the cooking on its own day. | Fact | Guess |
| 4 | The coordinator could send Henny into yesterday's workshop. | Fact | Guess |
| 5 | Henny made rolls with Mama supervising. | Fact | Guess |
| 6 | One wire bird's foot needed six attempts. | Fact | Guess |

Write one fact and one guess from your own day.

3 Think and write

Write what is true for you, or write about a made-up person. You do not have to share anything private.

- 1 Describe a fictional choice using what the character knew at the time, rather than information learned afterward.

- 2 Write about enjoying one activity without needing the unchosen one to be bad.

- 3 Give an invented character one useful action now, instead of endlessly rebuilding a finished decision.

6 Say it out loud

Practice these out loud, or whisper them. Then write what you would say in your own words.

1 "I chose with the information I had then."

2 "The other option can be good without making mine worthless."

3 "What can I use from the afternoon I actually had?"

7 My chart

Use Henny's fictional workshops. The chart does not promise perfect decisions or advise ignoring a real problem that can still be corrected.

Information before the choice	New information afterward	Useful part of the chosen activity	Possible later interest

8 Draw it

Draw the workshop photograph, two descriptions, recipe sheet, and snail-shaped roll. Caption what was known before and what was learned later. No people needed.
